DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

3. Claims 1, 2, and 7-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Oka et al.

Re claims 1, 2, and 7-11 Oka et al. discloses a boosted braking device, comprising: a master cylinder (4) controlling the pressure in at least one brake circuit; a primary piston (33) mounted to slide in the master cylinder to create therein a variation in pressure, this primary piston being subjected to an actuating force made up of an input force exerted by a manual-control member (2) and of a boost force exerted by a booster (3) which is coupled to the manual-control member; an emergency assist valve comprising a reaction piston (35) which slides in a sealed manner in a bore of the primary piston, the front part of this bore communicating with the interior volume of the master cylinder, a rapid piston (14) of cross section smaller than that of the reaction piston sliding in a sealed manner in a bore of corresponding diameter of the primary piston, and a ratio control actuated by a plunger distributor (25) itself driven by the manual-control member (2), primary piston, reaction piston and rapid piston being arranged in such a way that under emergency braking, the hydraulic reaction is exerted only on the small cross section of the rapid piston, characterized in that the reaction piston (35) and the rapid piston (14) form one and the same stepped piston having a part (35) of large cross section and a part (35) of small cross section, the large-section part (35) determining, with the corresponding bore of the primary piston, an annular chamber (between 35 and 14), the volume of which varies according to the displacement of the stepped piston relative to the primary piston, and that separation/communication means (unnumbered seals, and springs), controlled by the displacement of the stepped piston are designed so that the pressure of the liquid is exerted on the large cross section of the stepped reaction piston when the latter occupies its position of rest or is to the rear of this position, and on only the small cross section when the stepped piston is displaced forward relative to the primary piston under emergency braking.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 3-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Gault, Nakamura et al., Mouri et al., and Takasaki et al. teach boosted braking devices.
